Boys Learn Cars History Classes Have Warfare Display

Mike Hoggatt and Steve Sims are working on a brake assembly in Mr. Charles Noble's fifth period Power Mechanics class. Presently, the class is learning installation of brakes, making differential repairs, replacing shock absorbers and learning to make decisions on brake repairs.

The next phase of instruction will cover drive shafts, transmissions, and clutch assemblies.

During the last eight to ten weeks of school, the class will study engine theory, operation, and minor and major repair. Engine components will also be studied in this phase.

These students are obtaining a high degree of efficiency in making decisions and judgments with safety practices being a part of every job.

HATCHET PLATES FOR SALE

"We still have a few license plates floating around," comments Mr. Roger Williams on the surplus of Hatchet license plates left over from football season.

The license plates may be purchased from any F.F.A. member for $1.

There are no hopeless situations; only men who have grown hopeless about them. --Clare Booth Luce

"Just to break the monotony," commented Mr. Larry Cobb when asked why he brought a collection of ancient and modern weapons to his world history classes last week.

When asked where he got all of the display, he said, "They aren't mine. They belong to Jim Osborn, a history teacher in Vincennes. I would have brought more, but I did not have a semi-trailer to haul them."

The collection includes two light Nazi machine guns from WWII; five swords, one of which was made in 1633; six daggers, one Japanese helmet, two Nazi helmets, one doughboy field hat, a German Air Force officer's hat, and a British missionary helmet from World War I.

The real reason for bringing in the weapons was to show the advancement of man and war.

PAT MAHAN, sporting a German paratrooper's helmet and a light machine gun, takes aim on Karl Kluemper, who is preparing to defend himself with a sword and battle axe. Karl is wearing the armor of a Spanish soldier in the late 1600's.

GOOD PERCENTAGE TAKE TESTS

"This senior class has the best per centage for taking the TB tine tests," said Miss Wilma Watt, school nurse, after giving seniors the test during economics.

Ninety-three per cent of the senior class took the TB tine test, even Mr. Kenneth Gray and Mr. Bill Vaughan became brave and had the tests recently.

Sophomores were given the test Monday.

FUTURE TEACHERS have recently purchased two large coat racks for school use and have paid $20 on drapes for the student lounge.

BAND MEMBERS EXPRESS FEELINGS ABOUT CAPITAL CITY VISIT

Quotes from band members who played for the inauguration of John Snyder, state treasurer, and visited some places of interest in Indianapolis are:

Julie Opell: "The great size of the Soldiers and Sailors' Monument reminded us of all the Americans who have died in service to our country. ...The displays at the Powerama showed me physics principles actually in action."

Vicki Goodrid: "The beauty of our state capitol in itself is breath taking...The view from the top of the Soldiers and Sailors' Monument made me feel that I was in the land of the free and the home of the brave."

Vickie Ingle: "I learned from this trip what Governor Whitcomb is like as a person. He even knew about our basketball team, showing that he holds something in his heart for all cities in Indiana and not just his hometown."

Musical To Be March 26 & 28

"Brigadoon," acclaimed as one of the best musical plays of stage history, will be the featured presentation at the WHS auditorium for two performances on March 26 and 28. Mike Hardy and Janie McCracken will be starred as the romantic singing leads.

"Brigadoon," tells in story, music and dance the tale of two Americans, one romantic, the other sarcastic, who wander by chance into a Scottish Highlands village called Brigadoon, a delightful phantom community that comes to life one day each century. It is the day of a fair and the day of a wedding--and the day that the village comes to life. The romantic Yank meets a beautiful lassie with whom he falls in love and the sarcastic Yank is pursued by an impudent and amorous siren. Crisis leads to more Crises.

Mike Hardy will sing the role of Tommy Albright, and Janie McCracken will be his bonnie fair lassie.

SENIOR SUE LONG won a first division medal at the State Contest in Indianapolis, February 15. Sue played an oboe solo entitled "F. G. Handels Concerto in G Minor" in two movements. Mr. Dan McDaniel was her accompanist on piano.

PART OF THE BRIGADOON cast are: Donna Waugh, front; Mimi Lord, Janie McCracken, sitting; and Mike Hardy.

HUNTER (from p 2) lost to Frankfort in the championship.

In years that followed, Mr. Hunter was teacher or principal until his retirement. He was truly one of Washington's finest coaches.

Washington School Song

Fight, Fight for old Washington!
Fight until the battle is won--
For old Gold and Black on high--
Sing Washington's praises to the sky.
Although the odds be great or small,
Old Washington will win over all
As her loyal sons and daughters
March on to victory.

Yea, Beat 'em! Bust 'em!
Beat 'em! Bust 'em!
That's our custom!
Fight! Fight! Fight!
Fight! Fight!
